

INTRODUCTION: 64825 is a medium gray, friable, clastic breccia (Fig. 1) with a diverse clast population, including at least one clast of green glass. This rock is a rake sample from the rim of a small, subdued crater on Stone Mountain. A few zap pits are present on one surface.

FIGURE 1. Aluminum cup bottom is 2 inches in diameter. S-72-42077.